Mayor's Message

Hi Neighbors,

As Holly Springs grows, so does our need for federal support addressing the challenges of our fast-growing community.

At the end of March, I traveled to Washington, D.C., to meet with our federal delegation along with Mayor Pro Tem Dan Berry, Council Member Annie Drees, Town Manager Randy Harrington, and Town Attorney John Schifano. We discussed how federal funding could help us address our infrastructure needs, particularly regarding transportation investments and the community's desire for more greenways. We also brought up the needs of our public safety departments and how federal dollars could help us continue to be one of the safest communities in North Carolina.

Over the past few years, these DC trips have been instrumental in building strong relationships between the Town and our federal partners and securing important grants in areas such as water and wastewater infrastructure, along with continued support of federal programs that provide grant funding to many of our roadway and greenway projects.

Yours truly,
Sean Mayefskie

Sip & Stroll Downtown Social District Launches May 2

Downtown Holly Springs is becoming an even more welcoming destination with the opening of the "Sip & Stroll" social district. The Holly Springs Town Council voted to establish the social district, which allows people to purchase beer or wine from participating businesses and enjoy the beverages as they walk around the vibrant and growing downtown area.

"Grab a drink or a bite to eat, take a stroll, listen to live music, and soak in the joys of being part of a friendly, connected community while supporting local businesses," said Holly Springs Mayor Sean Mayefskie.

Sip & Stroll launches May 2 in conjunction with the Town's International Food Festival and operates seven days a week from 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

"Social districts have been very successful in neighboring municipalities, and downtown Holly Springs is an ideal location to add this activity," Mayefskie said.

Holly Springs Economic Development staff are coordinating the Sip & Stroll initiative to support local businesses by increasing foot traffic and creating a more dynamic and engaging downtown throughout the year.

"As people Sip & Stroll in our downtown, they will naturally discover and interact with shops, restaurants, and entertainment venues, driving economic activity," said Holly Springs Small Business Downtown Manager Tyler Garner.

The district spans Main Street downtown, starting just north of the intersection of Earp and ending at Oak Avenue. The district also extends to the Cultural Center and includes areas designated for future development. Sip & Stroll signage marks the boundaries where open beverages in marked containers are allowed.

While downtown, visitors should look for Sip & Stroll decals displayed near business doors that indicate the participation status.

"Sip & Stroll aims to provide residents and visitors with an exciting way to enjoy the charm of Holly Springs and contribute to the continued vibrancy and success of our local economy," Garner said.

Safety Spotlight

Fire Station 3 Opening

It was all smiles and celebration as the Town of Holly Springs opened its newest fire station in northwest Holly Springs last month. Joining Holly Springs Mayor Sean Mayefskie and Town Council Members were State and Wake County elected officials, local business leaders, students, and community members to mark this important public safety milestone. The new Fire Station 3 at 114 Cinder Station Road is strategically located in an area seeing tremendous growth with homes and businesses.

Fire Station 2 Goes Solar

Fire Station 2 along Avent Ferry Road is now using solar energy to help power the facility. The 25.74-kilowatt solar system is an effort to reduce operating costs and the Town's energy consumption – a Holly Springs Town Council initiative. The project was completely funded using a Energy Efficiency and Conservation Block Grant.

Get Timely Information During Emergencies

No one likes to think about worst-case scenarios, but you can make sure your family has the latest information by signing up for emergency alerts. If there is ever a public safety emergency that Holly Springs Police and Fire deem urgent enough, they will notify Wake County Emergency Management to activate the ReadyWake notification system. You can sign up at readywake.com. These alerts can come to your cell phone, home phone, business phone – you choose how you want to receive emergency alerts.

In case of utility emergencies, the Town will automatically notify you via email, phone call, and text message, using the contact information provided when you signed up for your account. This can be very important if a water or sewer line breaks in your neighborhood. If you would like to update your contact information, log onto your utility account at hollyspringsnc.gov/payonline or call 311.

Expanded Activities, New E-Newsletter Offered for Ages 55+

Calling all seniors: Are you interested in clubs and social gatherings, outings to regional destinations, volunteer opportunities, recreational activities, a new Senior Spotlight e-newsletter, and more? Through Holly Springs Parks & Recreation, people ages 55+ now can enjoy more connectivity and activities geared specifically for them than ever before!

Last year, with growing community interest in expanded activities for seniors, Mayor Sean Mayefskie held a Community Chat, inviting seniors to share what programs interested them. Town Parks & Recreation staff also sought input during senior focus groups and through an online survey.

"The feedback we gathered through various channels and conversations was truly instrumental in shaping expanded offerings of programs and activities geared specifically for this age group," said Holly Springs Parks & Recreation Director LeeAnn Plumer.

Holly Springs Parks & Recreation has launched a monthly e-newsletter dedicated to senior programs and activities. The Senior Spotlight includes information about regular programs and highlights unique activities offered for seniors during the upcoming month and beyond. Subscribe to the e-newsletter by visiting hollyspringsnc.gov/seniors.

The Senior Spotlight e-newsletter details the expanded offerings designed specifically for seniors, including:

- Weekly clubs, such as Wii bowling, bridge, mah-jongg, and more.
- Workshops spanning topics from technology to nutrition
- Senior fitness classes and wellness activities
- Social gatherings and volunteer opportunities
- Group outings to regional destinations

The newsletter also includes information about Town festivals, events, and performances.

Plumer noted that seniors were intentionally considered during the design of the multigenerational recreation center planned for the future Eagles Landing Park.
